Chapter 3 – Spontaneous Wealth

Seeing What Others Miss

"Limitations live only in our minds. But if we use our imaginations, our possibilities become limitless." Jamie Paolinetti

"Today the greatest single source of wealth is between your ears." Brian Tracy

"He does not possess wealth that allows it to possess him." Benjamin Franklin

Before wealth manifests itself in tangible form, it exists first and foremost in an intangible form. What we see with our natural eyes is a manifestation of something that first existed in an unseen state. This book for example existed in my mind for a long time before it ever presented itself to you. Another way of saying this is that everything is "twice created", first in your mind, then in physical form. If you go through life only seeing the effect or the outcome, but never discern the cause of things, you will live at the mercy or lack thereof of those who see into both worlds and move freely between them.

Wealth is first of all an internal possession. If you don't have it on the inside, you will never have it on the outside. You can only manifest in life what you possess on the inside. Nothing more. The life you lead on the outside is a reflection of the things you believe and the truths you understand on the inside. The wealth inside this book will become yours in a series of brilliant “Aha!” moments, flashes of revelation borrowed from the oldest, most abundant, diverse and thriving enterprise on earth – the rainforest. Business fads come and go but the rainforest has been thriving for eons despite having limited capital (poor topsoil) to work with and now provides us with an unlimited source of renewable wealth to make our world a better, more prosperous place for everyone.
